

Nick Prichard

- Nick always went way above and beyond contacting all of us outside the dedicated times we gave ourselves.

He took on additional take, helped and encouraged others willing in a really constructive way.

- Grew into the leadership position as the project went on. Took the idea and helped deliver it with enthusiasm. Put the work in to a good standard.
- Nick has been a constant source of genuine support throughout the project. He's a natural leader but held back a little to make way for everyone else, which I respect about him. His personalised communication style meant I felt I had someone to go to if I needed anything - he's a real asset to our team.
- Nick was awesome. His vast experience in pitching and similar projects significantly added value to our group work. He even devoted extra time for working with me separately. Thank you Nick!
- Nick was always there if you needed help. He took notes over our hangouts and circulated them. He was also able to get a logo put together for our app. He is a jack of all trades and was always helpful if a question came to mind.
- The best colleague in our team. Excellent organizational skills. A leader and a person with a lot of experience. It is really my pleasure to work with him and I believe we will keep in touch after the course as well.
- Nick was great, he delivered quality material and communicated clearly. Great attitude and a great addition to the group.

Nick Prichard

- Nick was always enthusiastic in the hangouts, and was keen to know every member of the group to ensure that we could work together in the best possible way. He was the first one to submit the draft report as he knew he'd be unavailable over the weekend (spend time with family). He was also always reachable on email with not much delay. Really enjoyed working with Nick.

- Nick has great to work with on this task. Present and keen from the first week he helped a lot to get things going.

He delivered his section of work first and that allowed other to get an idea of the structure and standard expected.

Look forward to working with Nick again on the next project

- Nick was really great at this, really owning the group with Scott and providing full detail of requirements and deadlines.

- Nick met his deadlines and provided high-quality input. He was also active early on with Scott in forming the team's charter for the project work.

- Nick had a great attitude and motivator throughout the project - great work and feedback!

Nick Prichard

- Nick, again, has been an absolute angel. His content is truly superb and it drives our projects. He's an expert and I've learnt a lot from him. I like his diplomatic nature, his supportive attitude and his positivity. I hope we stay in touch in the future because he's a real gent and I'm so proud to say I've worked with him.
- Nick is always available and very clever. Provides his experience in the field and is willing to help others and feed them back with valuable input. His part on the project was the hardest and he managed to do almost an excellent job.
- Nick is a great guy, you could almost say he over delivers! Quick to respond, great contributions and a great mood - what more could you ask for in a teammate? I'm very happy to have been in a group with Nick until now, he's been a star!
- Nick is always a solid, reliable member of the group., He delivered content and support for the rest of the team. He was always available for group sessions even when on holiday with his family. A thoroughly reliable, likeable group member!

Nick Prichard

- I have really enjoyed working with Nick. He makes quick, smart decisions and always has great ideas.

In this task, the topic was his idea and he worked with his contacts in the insurance industry to find out relevant information and make sure we were on right track. His contribution has to a high standard as always.

- Nick was great in helping pull everything together and contributed well to the group submission.
- AS said before - glue that held us together! Invaluable!
- Nick is the enthusiastic one in the group - always eager to help the others, and has always provided detailed feedback on the work we produce. Was a pleasure working with Nick.
- Nick was really strong throughout, although especially at the end. As the project neared it's conclusion, Nick went beyond the call of duty to pull together several modules (rather than simply focusing on his own) to ensure our point of view was coherent. He also obtained the viewpoint of an industry insider to verify that our thinking was relevant and 'on point'. Nick didn't have to do this and it would have been easy - given the proximity of the deadline - to not do this. In the end, Nick's contribution towards the end really helped us boost the quality of our white paper.
